The Great War Lecture Series. Free & open to the public.
Feb. 19, 2 PM Scott Ellsworth, Ph.D. "The Long Shadow:
World War I, Race, and the Making of America"

Formerly a historian at the Smithsonian Institution, Scott Ellsworth has written about American history and culture for the New York Times, the Washington Post, and the Los Angeles Times. The author of Death In a Promised Land, a groundbreaking history of the Tulsa race riot of 1921, Scott's newest book, The Secret Game: A Wartime Story of Courage, Change, and Basketball's Lost Triumph was awarded a PEN Book Award in 2016. He lives with his wife and their fourteen year old twin sons in Ann Arbor, where he also teaches at the University of Michigan.

Mar. 19, 2 PM Margaret Spratt, Ph.D. "Behind the Lines:
American Women in France during The Great War"

After receiving a Ph.D. in history at the University of Kentucky, Margaret Spratt was on the faculty at California University of Pennsylvania, near Pittsburgh, where she received the university's research award for her co-edited book, Men and Women Adrift: The YMCA and the YWCA in the City. She has also taught and researched at the University of New England, the University of Southern Maine, Oberlin College in Ohio, and Smith College in Massachusetts. Margaret lives in Paris with her husband, Henry Wyatt, and Golden Retriever, Pete. She is a consultant for Making History Matter.

Also part of our Black History Month celebration in partnership with the Paris-Bourbon County Public Library! Check our website for more details!

Terra Cotta Restoration Campaign

The historic terra cotta exterior including the cornices, front entry and balustrades was failing and water was seeping into the brick walls! We are excited to report that the work is now complete! But, we still need your help to cover our costs!

We have raised $125,000! Thank You!!

Please give by calling 859-987-7274 or mailing a check to 800 Pleasant St. Paris, KY 40361 with "Terra Cotta" in the memo.
