Introduction

In 2018, the Board of Directors of the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum undertook a three-pronged approach to address the future of the organization. First, members of the board worked on an organizational analysis which was in part paid for with a grant from the Kentucky Local History Trust Fund. With the grant, the museum enrolled in the Standards and Excellence Programs for History Organizations (StEPS), a self-evaluation process developed by the American Association for State and Local History (AASLH).

This initial analysis led to the second effort, a voluntary peer-review initiative, known as the Museum Assessment Program (MAP). This service is supported by a cooperative agreement among the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) and the American Alliance of Museums (AAM). An Organizational Assessment Review was conducted by Deborah A. Smith, a consultant for the American Alliance of Museums.

During this organizational review, the museum board indicated a desire to address three specific areas: improving risk management, stabilizing finances, and refining the mission statement.

To honor the previous work of the board of directors, the 2013 Strategic Plan and 2016 evaluation of that plan, also guided this strategic planning process.

The third step taken by the museum board of directors was to develop the framework of this strategic plan. The board and staff worked closely with the Kentucky League of Cities Community Development Services (KLC CDS) to organize and complete the plan. As facilitators, KLC CDS assisted the board with further discussions, inviting input from members, volunteers and the community at large. Further, the input provided from stakeholders and residents led to extensive feedback which was used to inform the establishment of goals and strategies which have been incorporated in this final strategic plan.

The desired outcomes of the planning process included the following:

- ✓ Refresh the mission and vision statements;
- ✓ Analyze the budget alongside the mission and priorities (spending versus values, track donations);
- ✓ Discuss current operations (facility, technology, collections) and assess personnel needs (customer service);
- ✓ Identify potential opportunities and priorities (staff diversity; public relations within community regarding preservation; becoming a resource and a better community partner);
- ✓ Consider what may be on the horizon over the next few years (expand tourism draw, connect to horse museum or other tourism offerings; serve as resource for preservation of historic structures within the community); and
- ✓ Determine next steps to grow the organization from being viable to sustainable (see previous statements).

As recommended in the 2018 MAP, this plan includes the same benchmarking matrix and timeline used in the 2016 evaluation of the 2013 plan.

Museum Background

Historic Paris-Bourbon County (HPBC) is a membership organization, established when Articles of Incorporation were filed on May 19, 1978. The organization is dedicated to education and advocacy for historic preservation in the region. The HPBC initially met in members' homes. During the formative years of HPBC, members worked on the publication of Historic Architecture of Bourbon

County, Kentucky, published in 1985 and a seminal record of early Bourbon County architecture. HPBC also promoted historic preservation education and advocacy through house tours, lectures, historical events and workshops.

Later, the HPBC took on the responsibility of managing their own facility, a historic property in downtown Paris, the former Post Office. This building was a gift from the City of Paris and the impetus for opening the Hopewell Museum.

Founded in 1994 as a committee of Historic Paris-Bourbon County, Inc., the Hopewell Museum is housed in a Beaux Arts-style building which was added to the National Register of Historic Places in 1989. A grant from Save America's Treasures helped fund a $750,000 renovation project in 2003-2004.

In 2007, the boards of HPBC and Hopewell Museum combined their operations to better serve the geographic region of Bourbon County and its neighboring Kentucky counties along with traveling visitors. Today, the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum is the primary organization for historic preservation, education and advocacy within the community.¹

Executive Summary

The 2019 Strategic Plan for the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum is the result of a collaborative effort between the HPBC/Hopewell Museum board of directors and the Kentucky League of Cities (KLC). The five-year update builds upon the 2013 strategic plan and a Museum Assessment Program planning effort to examine the organization's condition and structure ways that it can position itself to best meet the needs of the Paris-Bourbon County region.

The process used by KLC was divided into four phases: preparation, information gathering, content development and layout and design.

1. In the preparation stage, KLC met with the board of directors and the executive director, conducted their own assessment of current conditions, and analyzed previous planning and implementation activities.
2. During the information gathering phase, KLC conducted a community listening session and an online survey to solicit public input. KLC also facilitated a board of director's retreat to work on mission and vision statements and evaluate the organization's goals, values, and structure.

3. Responses from the information gathering phase were incorporated into the initial framework of the strategic plan.
4. Working alongside the executive director and the board of directors, the final strategic plan was developed.

During the construction of the strategic plan, it became evident that the museum is in a position of relative strength. Overall, the organization's events, exhibits, and other programming are well received and attended by the public and it benefits from a committed and passionate group of volunteers and staff.

However, HPBC/Hopewell Museum primary concerns are how it will continue to build its relevance as an important community resource for years to come. A common concern heard during the planning process was how HPBC/Hopewell Museum can encourage the participation of a more diverse and youthful group of volunteers and visitors. Moreover, it is critical for HPBC/Hopewell Museum to continually evaluate its operations (including its exhibits and events) and identify ways in which it can best reaffirm its importance through new marketing initiatives, community partnerships, and an enterprising board of directors.

Values, Mission and Vision Statements

The details of this strategic plan offer a roadmap for the organization to capitalize on its successes, reestablish its priorities, and maintain its position as a preeminent community organization that captures the best that Paris and Bourbon County has to offer.

HPBC/Hopewell Museum Values

- Dedicated to the mission
- The museum building
- Professional staff and leadership
- Active engagement and collaboration of partnerships that benefit the community
- Advocate for the preservation of buildings, sites, and documents
- Active engagement that benefits the community

2019 Mission Statement

The Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum connects people by collecting, preserving, and sharing the history and culture of Paris, Bourbon County, and the region.

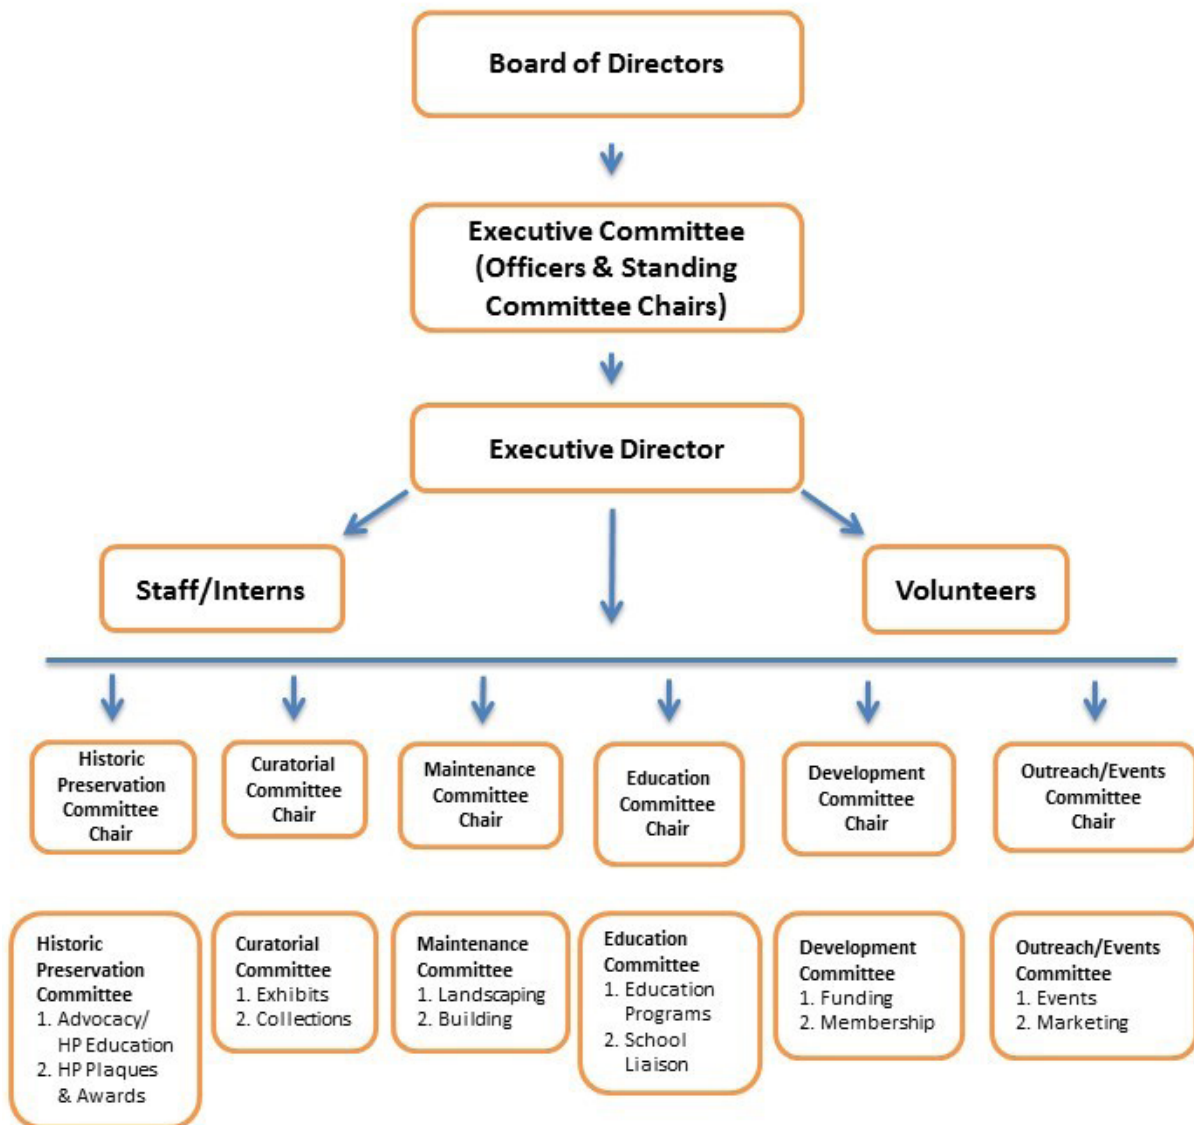

2019 Vision Statement

The Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum preserves the past, shares the present, and informs the future.

HPBC/Hopewell Museum Organization Chart 2018

Good Governance – the Weil Matrix

In the February 2018 Organizational Assessment Summary Final Report, Deborah A. Smith, Ph.D. provided the following information regarding good governance. A portion of her recommendation is shared here.

Governance means making choices, an exercise requiring recognition that every choice involves trade-offs and risks, as well as recognizing the motivations for the choice. Good governance also means the composition of the governing authority meets the needs of the museum in fulfilling its mission and implementing its strategic plan. Equitable representation of the community (age, gender, race/ethnicity, income, education, networks, and skills) is only part of the picture. Achieving a good composition also requires self-awareness.

Measuring success matters, first because museums must not waste public resources, and second because success will generate greater support. However, museum scholar Stephen Weil believed that, “To try to measure a museum’s outcomes in the same way as those, for example, of a health or human service agency is to get truly deep into apples and oranges...the impact may be subtle, diffuse, intermixed with the impact of other organizations, and not always immediate.”

In one of his last published articles (2005), he devised a matrix of evaluation metrics that still offers good guidance more than a decade later:

|--|--|
| Purpose (Mission) | Resources (Staff, space, money, good will) |
| Effectiveness (Achievement of purpose) | Efficiency (How museum goes about it) |

The upper horizontal dimensions are the primary concerns for the governing authority; the horizontal lower dimensions are staff responsibilities. The left side vertical dimensions are the ends (qualitative outcomes); the right side is the means (quantitative outputs). Weil embellished this matrix by placing programs (broadly defined as all operational areas) squarely at the intersection of all four dimensions.

Programs are either directly aimed at the public to achieve its purpose, or supportive. Thus, since all museum operations must consider each dimension, the full matrix is needed to appraise their success.

Organizational Goals

In 2013, the HPBC/Hopewell Museum established over-arching goals for the organization. On May 29, 2018, the board updated the organization goals at a board retreat. In addition to the previous five goals, two additional goals were added as number six and seven shown in the chart below.

Also included in the chart are the responsible committees (including the board of directors) for each organizational goal. While the responsible committees are not exclusively responsible for their assigned goal(s), this relationship has been determined by the current set of objectives that each have developed during the planning process, and therefore is subject to change as progress is made.

Organizational Goals

Historic Preservation

Historic Preservation Committee Purpose

The Historic Preservation Committee is responsible for advocating for the importance of historic preservation as a component of cultural and economic capital and heritage tourism. This may be accomplished by serving as a resource and providing information to community partners and historic property owners on smart renovation techniques and adaptive reuse of historic properties.

Historic Preservation Committee Responsibilities

- Advocate for the historic preservation of buildings, structures, and sites in the community.
 - Assist with the development of planning and legal measures to protect historical resources and for creating local historic districts. Work to increase public support for these measures and assist development of governing boards for those districts.
- Educate property owners with the maintenance, restoration, rehabilitation, reconstruction, development, and certification of historic buildings, structures, and sites.
- Identify public and private funding sources applicable to preservation projects.
- Administer the HPBC/Hopewell Museum historic preservation recognition program, including the plaque program and determining the Mary Spears Van Meter Award.
- Publicize those buildings, structures, sites and/or new national register nominations that should be designated as historic districts or landmarks within their respective zoning jurisdictions.
- Proactively maintain a register of historic places in the community.
- Participate in Section 106 projects as relevant by attending public meetings, submitting official written comments, and assisting mitigation efforts.
- Assist partners in researching, securing funds, and the submission of historic markers.
- Make recommendations to the executive committee or board in accordance with established financial policies about expenditure of Sally Quillin Preservation Fund.

Historic Preservation Committee Objectives

| OBJECTIVES | TIME FRAME | STRATEGIES | ACTION OR RESOURCES NEEDED | WHO INITIATES |
|--|------------|--|--|---------------------------------|
| Continue serving as advocates of historic preservation by establishing specific goals. | Year 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Develop policy for administering preservation funds to other entities. | Committee meeting and recommend to board | Historic Preservation Committee |

| | Year 5 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Create a supplement to update the Green Book and include historic buildings that are missing from the book. | Ad hoc subcommittee and paid interns | |
| | Year 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Develop procedures when historic structures are in peril (marketing). | Committee meeting | |
| | Year 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Organize files on historic structures and registers; work with Curatorial Committee to include in vertical file that will be accessible to the public. | Volunteer, filing cabinets | |

Curatorial Committee

Curatorial Committee Purpose

This committee is responsible for collecting, cataloging, safekeeping, arranging and conserving manuscripts, newspapers, objects and all historical source material of the museum. The committee shall also be responsible for planning, researching, curating, and fabricating exhibits including in-house and travelling pop-up exhibits.

Curatorial Committee Responsibilities

- Recommend acquisitions to the executive board and deaccession to the full board and implement accordingly.
- Process incoming and outgoing artifact loans.
- Target potential sources and donors and assist Development Committee in raising funds for specific collection/exhibit needs.
- Oversee collections care and security in accordance with prevailing standards as articulated by the American Alliance of Museums.
- Make recommendations to the board regarding future needs of collections and storage.
- Function as a reference resource for researchers when appropriate and reasonable.
- Plan, research, curate and fabricate exhibits including in-house and pop-up exhibits.
- Manage travelling exhibits from outside institutions and work with guest curators for special exhibits.

Curatorial Committee Objectives

| OBJECTIVES | TIME FRAME | STRATEGIES | ACTION OR RESOURCES NEEDED | WHO INITIATES |
|--|------------|---|---|----------------------|
| Review and re-vise collections policy | Year 1 | Review and revise to include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A specific scope of collections and acquisition policy in accordance with the mission statement • Ethical considerations • Criteria for artifact disposals • Information about the organization's insurance policy • Separate collections policy and procedures into two documents • Add language on ability to care for collections as part of the rationale for acceptance | Committee/ ad hoc meetings | Curatorial Committee |
| Make collections or primary and secondary sources available to the public in accordance with museum standards. | Year 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Create procedures and a form for access to collections | Committee meeting | Curatorial Committee |

Development Committee

Development Committee Purpose

The Development Committee works collaboratively with the HPBC/Hopewell Museum Board of Directors to provide leadership in planning and implementing the vision of the organization by identifying and securing the necessary financial resources.

Development Committee Responsibilities

- Manage Preservation Circle, including identifying potential PC members and recognizing current members.
- Manage and update donor information.
- Work with Marketing Subcommittee to develop messaging that explains the value of being a member of HPBC/Hopewell Museum.
- Contact prospective members in person, by phone or email to invite them to join HPBC/Hopewell Museum and identify/cultivate current members to increase giving levels.
- Solicit feedback from members/donors.
- Contact delinquent members prior to cancellation and encourage them to renew.
- Greet and introduce new members and prospective members at events. Sit with them if possible and help them network.
- Assist staff with annual fund drive.
- Assist staff in thanking/recognizing donors and sponsors.
- Help identify and solicit sponsors and major donors.
- Help ad hoc committee with capital campaigns.

Development Committee Objectives

|---|----------------------------------|---|----------------------------|-----------------------|
| Develop financial resources based on annual institutional budget, staff/committee budgets, special project budgets, and long-term financial goals or capital campaigns. | Year 1 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> With the treasurer, seek assistance from a financial planner to help the board address concerns related to low interest on investments, future capital needs, and how to grow the endowment for long-term sustainability. | Volunteer | Development Committee |

Education Committee

Education Committee Purpose

The Education Committee is to implement educational programming for a diverse group of learners of all ages.

Education Committee Responsibilities

- Identify similar organizations in the community and investigate what types of programming and services they are providing. Seek partnerships where relevant.
- Review the current community and HPBC/Hopewell Museum calendar and devise an annual calendar with a specific focus of how to integrate a youth element.

- Develop guidelines for a sustainable youth programming.
- In collaboration with teachers/school administration, create workshops for field trips. Provide consistent outreach to schools. Work with Marketing Subcommittee to market field trips.
- Work with Curatorial Committee to plan lectures/programs to accompany exhibits, as well as other educational programs offered throughout the year.

Education Committee Objectives

| OBJECTIVES | TIME FRAME | STRATEGIES | ACTION OR RESOURCES NEEDED | WHO INITIATES |

Community Outreach

Community Outreach Committee Purpose

Raise awareness about the organization, including its exhibit openings, education programs, and hospitality during events, by marketing to new and current audiences.

Community Outreach Committee Responsibilities

- Committee members will contribute ideas and suggestions for special events, hospitality and relationship building training programs, including topics and potential speakers.
- Create ways to add value to the programs and special events in order to have good attendance and generate funds.
- Assist with on-site registration when possible and serve as a moderator for programs and workshops.
- Evaluate events and follow-up with attendees to ascertain which programs and services should be stopped/started/continued.
- Incorporate young professionals as committee members to assist in program and event development.
- Develop new alternatives for generating program revenue.
- Plan and implement events that raise money, create awareness, and potential new members/supporters of the organization.

Community Listening Session

On June 4, 2018 KLC staff conducted a community listening session at the Paris-Bourbon County Public Library. The purpose of the meeting was to obtain comments from the public on how HPBC/Hopewell Museum is performing and what areas it might consider for improvement.

Community Listening Session

Meeting Notes

Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats (SWOT) Analysis

- ♦ Strengths – What are all of the positive attributes of the HPBC/Hopewell Museum
 - Children’s programming: photography, local school involvement, Free Fun Hour (Saturday program), Santa Community Party
 - Promotes and preserves local history
 - Museum building (especially for a city this size)
 - Historic preservation education
 - Revolving exhibits
 - Accessibility (including those with disabilities)
 - Venue for local artists
 - Art Walks
 - Community partnerships/collaborative efforts (ex. library, YMCA, etc.)
 - Museum provides a venue for community meetings and events
 - Museum serves as a community landmark that is an example of historic preservation
 - HPBC/Hopewell Museum programs provide the community an opportunity to connect
- ♦ Weaknesses – Describe the weaknesses of the HPBC/Hopewell Museum
 - Need for greater participation from younger adults (20-40 y/o)
 - Need to find ways to better connect with young adults and promote programs targeting their participation
 - No centralized calendar for all community events
- Demographics of community hurts participation
- Lack of awareness of HPBC/Hopewell Museum by potential visitors from outside the community
- ♦ Opportunities – Envision the things that are possible
 - 5th and 8th grade school field trips to the museum
 - Have a better presence on Main Street
 - Connect with the agritourism industry (ex. programs/events about the history of bourbon, tobacco, horses, etc.)
 - Multi-event collaborations
 - Promote awareness of places/things to do in Paris-Bourbon County for outside visitors
 - Diversify board and get millennials involved with committees
 - Capitalize on the programs that best drive community interests
 - Special programming for children with disabilities and those that are homeschooled
 - Playhouse driving tour for children
 - Live music events at the museum (good way to connect with a younger audience)
 - Theatre/performing arts events
 - Simple, yet engaging events
 - Networking with local businesses/hosting events at different locations
 - Rotating program venues (especially those that connect with young professionals)

Community Listening Session

- ♦ Threats – What could cause the HPBC/Hopewell Museum to fail?
 - Imbalanced demographics of the community/Inability of HPBC/Hopewell Museum to connect with the younger generation
 - City and county defunding
 - Inability to maintain building over time
 - Dwindling attendance levels over time
 - Lack of diversity of new programming that would attract new audiences
 - Main Street not able to connect participants to the museum/HPBC/Hopewell Museum programs
 - Lack of community support

In your opinion:

- ♦ What are the most important things that need to be done over the next three years?
 - Grow endowment of HPBC/Hopewell Museum
 - Grow membership
 - Grow children's art education programs
 - Connect with new residents
 - Increase awareness of HPBC/Hopewell Museum through new/improved marketing strategies
 - Maintain building
 - Collaboration and partnerships with community organizations, businesses, churches, etc.
- ♦ Which of these are the priorities?
 - Increase awareness of HPBC/Hopewell Museum through marketing strategies

Community Engagement

- ♦ What would motivate you to be more active with the HPBC/Hopewell Museum?
 - Opportunities that allow talents to be shared (ex. music)
 - Being asked directly to participate
 - Programs on different days of the week
 - What are you as a citizen willing to do to help sustain the organization?
 - Share talents
 - Invite friends to HPBC/Hopewell Museum events (including sharing/commenting on social media posts)
 - Join museum/participate in events

Communications

- ♦ How do you want to be communicated with?
 - Local newspaper
 - Email
 - Texts
 - Written invitation
 - Social media
 - In person

Public Survey

In order to obtain further input from the community, a public survey was hosted online from May 15th and June 10th. In total, 61 people responded to the survey. Most respondents were complimentary of the organization's quality and diversity of exhibits, events, and programs, its commitment and work on historic preservation, and its ability to educate and connect with the community.

The majority of respondents also commented that the organization's biggest challenges were raising community awareness for its activities and events and finding ways to strengthen its program offerings, build its membership, and engage a more diverse audience.

1) What do I value about the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum?

- I love that our community has a place that helps to document our great county's history and puts it on display
- The exhibits are interesting and usually do a very good job of connecting back to the community
- The way the museum connects with the community
- That it continues to be used as an educational tool for our local school systems

2) What does the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum do well?

- They do a good job of making their exhibits and programs interesting and relevant to community members
- Offers a wide variety of events and activities for all ages
- Gives the community, especially the kids in school, a better understanding of our local history as well as some exposure to fine arts

3) Are there any programs or services that the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum is not offering that they should?

- Expand the diversity of exhibits and events
- More programs for young people
- Better promotion of activities

4) Are there any program or services that the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum provides that should be expanded?

- Programs for children
- A better diversity of exhibits

Public Survey

5) Are there any programs or services that the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum is offering that I think should be stopped?

- Generic exhibits that don't further an understanding and/or appreciation of the heritage of Bourbon County and Central Kentucky.
- Anything out dated

6) How satisfied are you with the following:

7) The most common complaint I hear about the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum is?

- More people don't know about wonderful things that are going on at the museum
- The exhibits don't change very often
- Hours of operation
- It is elitist. But I think surly that is getting eradicated.

8) I believe we could remedy this problem by_____.

- More efforts to advertise around town, and increasing the social media presence. Interacting with the community and posting more frequently on platforms like Instagram or Facebook could increase interest.
- Expanding the scope of speakers and exhibits.

9) In my opinion, the three most important things the Historic Paris-Bourbon County/Hopewell Museum must focus-in the next two to three years are:

- Exhibits/Events/Programs
- Membership
- Awareness
